connecting and collaborating

What is the Burin Peninsula Voluntary Clusters Project?

The Burin Peninsula Clusters Project provides an exciting opportunity for community sector, voluntary, non-profit organizations to come together, discuss common issues, and identify specific ways to share resources through regional collaboration.

We are interested in:

- Exploring opportunities to improve the capacity of voluntary organizations
- Increasing opportunities for organizations to work collectively
- Building networks of voluntary, community based organizations
- Strengthening the relationship between the voluntary sector and governments
